

WHERE VOMITING OCCURS

Q: Where do vomit spills typically occur?

A: There is never a good place to have an unplanned vomit event. We all know, people can get sick anywhere and vomiting doesn't ask for permission. Vomit events in the workplace are especially challenging because they typically affect a wide group of individuals. While workplace vomit episodes can happen just about anywhere, they frequently occur in areas where large groups of employees, customers or students gather. They also tend to occur in areas where food is consumed.
